SourceBreaker - Coding Test

Please build a weather app, that displays the weather in a certain location (which can be input) including the temperature and an image. You can use any UI library you want, but you must use the Angular >= 8.

You can use any weather API you want but we would recommend using https://openweathermap.org/api

You must provide documentation on how to setup and run your app.

Please provide a link to your work in a git repo, we recommend using github.com

Good luck
